

University of Groningen

Aging and gender in Tanzania

Rutagumirwa, Sylvia Karen

IMPORTANT NOTE: You are advised to consult the publisher's version (publisher's PDF) if you wish to cite from it. Please check the document version below.

Document Version

Publisher's PDF, also known as Version of record

Publication date:

2018

Link to publication in University of Groningen/UMCG research database

Citation for published version (APA):

Rutagumirwa, S. K. (2018). Aging and gender in Tanzania: Uncovering the cultural schemas, nexus of identities and the Aging Body. [Thesis fully internal (DIV), University of Groningen]. University of Groningen.

Copyright

Other than for strictly personal use, it is not permitted to download or to forward/distribute the text or part of it without the consent of the author(s) and/or copyright holder(s), unless the work is under an open content license (like Creative Commons).

The publication may also be distributed here under the terms of Article 25fa of the Dutch Copyright Act, indicated by the "Taverne" license. More information can be found on the University of Groningen website: <https://www.rug.nl/library/open-access/self-archiving-pure/taverne-amendment>.

Take-down policy

If you believe that this document breaches copyright please contact us providing details, and we will remove access to the work immediately and investigate your claim.

Downloaded from the University of Groningen/UMCG research database (Pure): <http://www.rug.nl/research/portal>. For technical reasons the number of authors shown on this cover page is limited to 10 maximum.

Aging and Gender in Tanzania:
Uncovering the cultural schemas, nexus of identities and the Aging Body

Sylvia Karen Rutagumirwa

ISBN number: 978-94-6295-994-1

Lay-out and print by: ProefschriftMaken // www.proefschriftmaken.nl university of groningen

Aging and gender in Tanzania

Uncovering the cultural schemas, nexus of identities and the Aging Body

PhD thesis to obtain the degree of PhD at the University of Groningen

on the authority of the Rector Magnificus Prof. E. Sterken and in accordance with the decision by the College of Deans.

This thesis will be defended in public on Thursday 5 July 2018 at 11.00 hours

by

Sylvia Karen Rutagumirwa

born on 3 November 1975
in Lushoto, Tanzania

Supervisor

Prof. I. Hutter

Co-supervisor

Dr. A. Bailey

Assessment Committee

Prof. J.J.M. Zeelen

Prof. C.M. Fokkema

Prof. W. Harcourt

DEDICATION

I dedicate my thesis to my family. Dad, thank you for being such a great father. Mom, you have inspired me through my entire life. Thank you! To my husband Dunstan thank you for being the best husband and a best friend. To my children, Rodney, Precious and Abigail, I hope to inspire you to aim higher and not let anything stop your dreams. With determination and resilience you can become anyone.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I begin by thanking the Almighty GOD for providing me the strength, health and ability to finish my doctoral work. His mercy was with me throughout my life and ever more in this study.

I am especially indebted to my supervisor Prof. Inge Hutter and co-supervisor, Dr. Ajay Bailey. You constituted the perfect supervision team, I feel very lucky to have you as my supervisors. Nothing I write here can sufficiently express my gratitude to you; it's your trust in me, your continuous support, patience, motivation and your insightful comments that lead to completion of this doctoral Journey. To Prof. Inge, I am immensely grateful for your endless patience especially at the beginning of my PhD trajectory (where I had three proposals), you patiently listened to my scattered ideas, guided me to think critically and encouraged me to constantly improve and extend my work. Thank you for mentoring me throughout my doctoral journey. To Dr. Ajay, I am really grateful to you, for your patience, your continuous support and for your door always open for me. Thank you for your sharp intellectual and academic insight, you always pointed out things I had overlooked. Thank for your presence as mentor and friend. You two have made my PhD thesis go farther than I ever imagined possible. My sincerest gratitude also goes to Prof. Hinke Haisma who was my initial supervisor, thank you for all that you have done and for all that goes unsaid.

I would like to thank the members of the Reading Committee, Prof. J.J.M. Zeelen, Prof. C.M. Fokkema and Prof. W. Harcourt. Thank you for the time and efforts spent reviewing this thesis and more so, for approving it.

To my paranymphs: Dr. Billies de Haas and Fieke Visser thank you very much. You accepted to be my paranymphs despite your busy schedules and with great pleasure. I will forever cherish your kind hearts and support. My sincere thanks also go to Prof. Clara Mulder, for all the lovely chats during coffee breaks, and tips you gave me during our morning conversations. To the faculty members of spatial sciences, demography department and many colleagues outside the faculty I have had throughout my doctoral journey, know that each of you has left a lasting impression on me, and thanks for the conducive environment you allowed me by extension and for always making me feel welcome. I would especially like to thank Dr. Louise, Dr. Sepideh, Stiny, Liesbeth, and Kanika. Thank you for your time, for opening your homes to me. To other faculty members, I wish I could mention all your names! I would like to thank particularly Prof. Fanny, Dr. Eva, Allen, Nikhil, Ziad, Lybrich, Linden, Vera, Dr. Marieke, Dr. Shirish, Titissari, Dr. Sanne, Dr. Debbie, Arun, Dr. Anu, Elda, Jakko, Sergi, Dr. Acul, Ruben, Antje, Roselinde, Dr. Emmy and my other PhD colleagues and students of Population master's course intake of 2011/2012.

I would also like to thank Alida from Graduate school and Feara who took over after her for helping me with all the procedures of the PhD. I would also like to thank the secretaries at demography department: Stiny, Mirjam, Eliza and others for always being very helpful.

In my academic life, I have met many other scholars who have helped to shape my academic worldview. I would particularly like to mention Prof. Liz from Karolinska Institutet, Dr. Tom Strong from the National university of Ireland, Maynooth and Prof. Kamuzora and the late Prof. Chachage from the University of Dar es Salaam and Prof. Henk Sol from Groningen University.

I must also extend my deepest gratitude to Laura who is like a rare book of which but only one copy was made. We met through our children, Abigail and Lotte, at the day care, our friendship has since blossomed. Your support to me and Abigail has meant more to me than words on this page can ever convey. You and Hilbert are friends I hope to keep forever!! You will always be remembered. I also want to extend my gratitude to the Kinderdagverblijf—KITS daycare, Siska Kanninga and all members of staff at KITS, Abigail was well cared for. You have all been wonderful.

I would like to thank the Netherlands Organization for International Cooperation in Higher Education and Research (NUFFIC)—(NICHE Project) for the financial support throughout my doctorate. I would like to express my gratitude for the financial support I received from Erasmus + ICM scholarship during mobility exchange program. My special appreciation goes to the International Office of the University of Groningen and the staff who played a central role in supporting and facilitating my visit and stay in the Netherlands; Drs. Wiebe Zijlstra, Gonny Lakerveld, drs. Esme Bakker, Ivita Kops and Hendrik Jan thank you very much for your kind support. I am thankful to the institute of Finance Management (IFM), my employer, for granting me a study leave to pursue this program. I am also grateful for the assistance with proofreading provided by Miriam and Ms Annrita.

In addition, I wanted to express my deep appreciation to all older women and men who participated in this study. I am humbled by their warmth, openness, patience, humor and trust and count which have enabled this rich and enjoyable study. I would also like to express my gratitude to Village executive officers (VEO) in Pwani, Ward executive officers (WEO) in Pwani, organizations for older people and Help age Tanzania and many other gatekeepers, for enabling an easy access to participants. I am also indebted to my fellow Tanzanians in Groningen: Zaina, Igulu, Zahor, Zubeda, Agustus, Jerome, Frank, Daniel, Anne, Mohamed, Zainab, Nyausi, Jokha, Karin, Kafwenji, Fabian, Noel, Deborah, Dr. Mackfallen and Dr. Idda and many others colleagues from Tanzania, Uganda, Kenya, Rwanda, Ghana and Nigeria .

Last but certainly not least, I am grateful to my family in Tanzania. Dunstan, my Husband, you supported me wholeheartedly and cared for our children so lovingly while I was preoccupied with this project: thanks for your relentless encouragement, patience, understanding and love. To my children Rodney, Precious and Abigail: You have helped me to celebrate every step and accomplishment along the way. Thank you for your constant, devoted and now answered prayers for my success! This achievement is yours as much as is mine. I would also like to say massive heartfelt thanks to my Dad and Mom and my sisters and Brothers: Pendo, Joe Doreen, Rutta and Benjamin and all my in-laws, thank you for your kind support. My friends Joan, Advera, Koku, Candida and Elvira and to all those who supported my family in one way or the other during my absence, ASANTENI SANA! Mom, you have inspired me through my entire life. I have always looked up to you and admired you for who you are and for what you have achieved as a woman (of your generation). Thank you for your support, prayers and for always being my friend. Where I grew frustrated, your counselling skills worked—I always I recall you saying that “It gets darker before dawn”, thank you mom for being a pillar to me.

Sylvia Karen Rutagumirwa

Dar es salaam, Tanzania April 2018

Table of Contents

Chapter 1	Introduction	15
1.1	Situating the study	17
1.2	Background of the study	20
1.3	Gender and aging in the cultural context of Tanzania	21
1.4	Family, intergenerational support, and policy responses to population aging in Tanzania	22
1.5	Research objective and thesis outline	23
1.6	Theoretical framework	25
1.7	Organization of thesis	28
Chapter 2	Study Population and Methodology and Methods	37
2.1	Introduction	39
2.2	Study Setting and population	39
2.3	Study design	41
2.4	Recruitment strategy and reflection	45
2.5	Data collection methods	48
2.6	Ethical Considerations	51
2.7	Data quality	52
2.8	Data analysis	53
2.9	Motivation for the current study and positionality	57
Chapter 3	“We Never Graduate from Caregiving Roles”: Cultural Schemas for Intergenerational Care among Older women and men in Tanzania*	67
	Abstract	68
3.1	Introduction	69
3.2	Intergenerational caregiving in Tanzania	70
3.3	Research goal	70
3.4	Caregiving and Cultural schema theory	71
3.5	Methods	73
3.6	Analyses	75
3.7	Results	76
3.8	Discussion	91
3.9	Conclusion	94
3.10	Limitations and future directions	95

Chapter 4	'I have to listen to this old body': Femininity and the aging body*	101
	Abstract	102
4.1	Background	103
4.2	The Theoretical Framework	103
4.3	Methods	106
4.4	Analysis	107
4.5	Results	107
4.6	Discussion	112
4.7	Limitations and Future Directions	117
4.8	Conclusion	117
 Chapter 5	 "It's all about being a woman": Intersections of multiple (dis)advantages experienced by older women*	 123
	Abstract	124
5.1	Introduction	125
5.2	Agency	126
5.3	Methods	128
5.4	Results	129
5.5	Discussion	138
5.6	Conclusion	142
5.7	Limitations and Future Directions	146
 Chapter 6	 "The Heart Desires but the Body Refuses": Sexual Scripts, Older Men's Perceptions of Sexuality, and Implications for Their Mental and Sexual Health*	 151
	Abstract	152
6.1	Introduction	153
6.2	Method	157
6.3	Methods and Procedure	158
6.4	Research Positionality and Reflexivity	161
6.5	Validity	162
6.6	Analysis	163
6.7	Results	164
6.8	Discussion	174
6.9	Limitations, and Future Research	177
6.10	Practice Implications	177
6.11	Conclusion	179

Chapter 7	“I am just a man by name ...” The Intersectionality of Age, Gender and Socio-Economic Status*	185
	Abstract	186
7.1	Introduction	187
7.2	Theoretical framework	188
7.3	Methodology	191
7.4	Findings	194
7.5	Discussion	201
7.6	Conclusion	204
7.7	Limitation and future research	205
 Chapter 8	 Conclusion and Discussion	 211
8.1	Introduction	213
8.2	Summary of main findings	213
8.3	Theoretical reflections	216
8.4	Reflections on methodology	219
8.5	Concluding remarks	220
8.6	Implications of the findings, recommendations for future research	221
 Appendices		 231
	Appendix 1: Interview guides for older men	233
	Appendix 2: Focus group discussion guides for older men	238
	Appendix 3: Interview guides for older women	241
	Appendix 4: Focus group discussion guides for older women	246
 Summary / Samenvatting		 249
	Summary	251
	Samenvatting	258

LIST OF FIGURES

Figure 2.1 Location of Pwani (Coastal Region) on Tanzania Mainland	40
Figure 2.2 procedures used in collecting and analyzing data	54
Figure 3.1 Internalization of cultural schemas	79
Figure 3.2 Motivation force for intergenerational caregiving	82
Figure 3.3 Care needed by older adults	85
Figure 4.1 Doing femininity with an old body (capital)	110
Figure 5.1 Older women's structural dis(advantages and intersecting identities across the life course	139
Figure 8.1 Cultural schemas, scripts and gender habitus that shape older adults' perceptions, experiences and meaning of old age	223

LIST OF TABLES

Table 2.1 Pwani Region: Total Population of older people by Age in Single Years, Five Year Age Groups, Sex and Rural-Urban	42
Table 2.2 Profile of focus group participants—20 FGDs (n=120)	49
Table 2.3 Profile of participants interviewed (N=30)	50
Table 2.4 Themes and sub themes	56
Table 3.1 Profile of participant interviewed (N=30)	74
Table 3.2 Profile of focus group participants—20 FGDs (n=120)	75
Table 4.1 Feminine Habitus and Lived Experience of Femininity in Later Life	109
Table 5.1 Demographic characteristics of women selected for the case study	129
Table 5.2 The intersecting sources of (dis) advantages over life course	145
Table 6.1 Characteristics of participants who were interviewed	159
Table 6.2 Themes, descriptions, coding, and examples	166
Table 7.1 Characteristics of participants who were interviewed	192

Chapters included in this thesis are reprinted from the following publications and manuscript

Chapter 3

“We Never Graduate from Caregiving Roles”: Cultural Schemas for Intergenerational Care among Older women and men in Tanzania, (forthcoming) Journal of Cross-Cultural Gerontology, Springer, publishers:

Chapter 4

“I Have to Listen to This Old Body”: Femininity and the Aging Body, The Gerontologist, 1, 10, doi.org/10.1093/geront/gnx161

Chapter 5

“Intersections of multiple (dis)advantages experienced by Tanzanian women’s across the life course (revised and submitted), Gender, Place & Culture ; A Journal of Feminist Geography

Chapter 6

“The Heart Desires but the Body Refuses”: Sexual Scripts, Older Men’s Perceptions of Sexuality, and Implications for Their Mental and Sexual Health. Sex Roles, 1-16. DOI: 10.1007/s11199-017-0822-3

Chapter 7

“I am just a man by name ...” The intersectionality of age, gender and socio-economic status (Submitted), a journal of men and masculinities